

A True Love Story

Everyone wants to love and to be loved! Virtually everyone is capable of this wonderful feeling. Love is of multifaceted nature. At the same time, this feeling helps reveal all the positive features of the person we love.

TMOD, Fellow Toastmasters and Guests a warm good evening to you all.....

Only true love is able to change people for the better.

It makes us forgive and find happiness in the happiness of a beloved man or a woman.

We are all different and we all express our love in different ways.

The very notion of "love" has a completely different meaning to different people. But we all love and want to be loved

Dear Toastmasters, to empathize the feeling of love, let me tell you a heart touch story.

a young man and a young girl fell in love, But she came from a poor family. The girl's parents weren't too happy. So the young man decided not only court the girl but to court her parents as well. the parents saw that he was a good man and was worthy of their daughter's hand. But there was another problem; The man was a soldier. Soon, war broke out and he was sent overseas for a year. The week before he left, the man knelt on his knee and asked his lady love, "Will you marry?" She wiped a tear, said yes, and they were engaged. They agreed that when he got back one year, they would get married

But tragedy struck A few days after he left, the girl had a major accident. It was a head-on collision. When she woke up in the hospital, she saw her father and mother crying. Immediately, she knew there was something wrong. She later found out that she suffered brain injury. The part of her brain that controlled her face muscles was damaged. Her once lovely face was now disfigured. She cried as she saw herself in the mirror. "Yesterday, I was beautiful. Today, I am a monster." Her body was also covered with so many ugly wounds. Right there and then, she decided to release her fiancé from their promise. She knew he wouldn't see her again.

For one year, the soldier wrote many letters but she wouldn't answer. He phoned her many times but she wouldn't return calls. But after one year, the mother walked into her room and announced, "He's back from the war." The girl shouted, "No! Please don't tell him about me. Don't tell him I'm here!". The mother said, "He's getting married," and handed her a wedding invitation. The girl's heart sank. She knew she still loved him but she had to forget him now. With great sadness, she opened the wedding invitation. And then she saw her name on it! Confused, she asked, "What is this?" the young man entered room with a bouquet of flowers. He knelt beside her and asked, "Will you marry me?" The girl covered her face with her hand and said, "I'm ugly. The man said, "Without your permission, your mother sent me your photos, When I saw your photos, I realized that nothing has changed. You're still the person I fell in love. You're still as beautiful as ever. Because I love you". I love you, just three little words, but the moment I say them the whole world changes like magic, and today I'm going to say them to you.

He continued, and said your thoughts are engraved in my heart. Your sweet name is etched on my heart forever. Your pure love is deeply embedded in my soul forever. How can I ever let you go? I breathe for you. I live for you. You are my only hope in this world where I feel so lonely and lost. You are the one with whom I want to spend the rest of my life. I love you with my heart and soul.
